Enter into the digital content marketplace with minimal work and maximum control

Publishers can begin selling their eContent in a matter of days, not weeks or months. The industry's most sophisticated backend system immediately provides a state-of-the-art ePublishing system for minimal expense and time investment.

- Net 45.5% of the retail price of your eBook sales through the Galaxy network
- Print-on-demand (POD) - including custom font large size editions - for single or short run production
- Print + eContent distribution - traditional printed book warehouse shipping, combined with free online eContent access of purchased book during the 7-day shipping period
- Control over eContent production, distribution format, and Digital Rights Management (security)
- Full indexing of all content - for access from all major portals (coming soon)
- Complete sales reporting, royalty payment distribution, and publisher-dictated subscription and promotional offers
